

THE WORKING OUT OF DESTINY 2

The problem in working out our destiny is that if we don't deal with all those things in our heart, we are going to continually have triggers which trigger how we think from the outside in, and that is where the conflict takes place.

Our mind has been programmed to think from the outside in. We are sensing what is happening on the outside which cause us to respond a certain way. When things on the outside are contrary to what we want, they trigger certain responses in us, and we behave a certain way.

When we are living from the inside out, we are communing with God aware of his presence on the inside of us and the things that happen on the outside do not affect us the same way because our awareness of God on the inside is greater. So we can deal with them differently and respond in the spirit, and develop triggers that cause us to go deeper in the spirit, to go deeper into the heart of God. We have to be willing to allow God to transform us from the inside out.

Our soul has emotions; emotions are on the inside and deal with our esteem, our worth, whether we feel loved, security, acceptance and value. All those things operate within our emotions.

Now as a result of unmet needs which means as a child or in relationships we did not get what we should have got which was love security and acceptance encouragement and all those things, we end up with low self-esteem or disappointments in our life which result in feeling insecure, rejected, being dependent on other people, codependent relationships to try to meet the needs that we have got because we are full of unmet needs.

Because God has not been able to meet our needs, we look to the world and we get hurt. Guilt shame all that stuff takes place from the things that happen in our soul, they are emotions.

Then there are loads of unhealed hurts, things where people have hurt us, let us down, caused pain in our life and as we have not learned how to forgive. Because of unforgiveness, they set up anger, bitterness resentment all those things in our emotions. They are all emotional things.

Those emotions can completely rule our lives, if we let them. So we have to deal with them. We need healing for our emotions. Our emotions affect what goes on in our conscious mind and they trigger things all the time.

Our behavior doesn't just happen our behavior comes from the things that are on the inside of us and God wants us to be restored and changed and have those things renewed. So the strongholds and all the things there get dealt with.

We also have a will, and if we sin or are in rebellion or stubbornness our will is damaged and effectively becomes a barrier to what God wants to do.

And this sets up things like unbelief, in-decision, control, doubt, fear, lots of things in our life. As we deal with them God wants to replace that with humility, confidence, patience, boldness, courage, determination, perseverance, self-control which is all a result of his Spirit flowing into our spirit. We can be changed if we allow God through a flow of his Spirit from the inside out to transform our life.

We need the Holy Spirit to search our heart in detail in these things because we need to know how we operate; we need to know what's going on the inside of us.

We need through the Holy Spirit to peel back the layers in order to see what's going on deeper down inside. This is necessary, but we don't try to change ourselves from the outside in, because it will be a battle that we will lose over and over again. We change from the inside out as God fills those areas of our heart with Himself.

If we try to change ourselves from the outside in, then we will be trying to change ourselves by our self. We need to allow God to change us from the inside out. Therefore we need to learn how to surrender, to surrender ourselves, to surrender to the presence of God on the inside so that the presence of God on the inside flows through our lives transforming us.

Our mind has been programmed to think from the outside in. We are sensing what is happening on the outside which cause us to respond a certain way. When things on the outside are contrary to what we want, they trigger certain responses in us, and we behave a certain way.

When we are living from the inside out, we are communing with God aware of his presence on the inside of us and the things that happen on the outside do not affect us the same way because our awareness of God on the inside is greater. So we can deal with them differently and respond in the spirit, and develop triggers that cause us to go deeper in the spirit, to go deeper into the heart of God.

God is on the inside of us, the kingdom is on the inside, and Eden is on the inside of us. Eden means pleasure. Every encounter with God is accumulative.

Things on the outside, beautiful things, like a beautiful baby, the beauty of the natural creation, good food and the list goes on and on trigger an encounter we had with the presence of God, and we are in the presence, we are in the spirit.

All the natural good things in life, things that cause natural love and joy, trigger the love and joy of God which is on a deeper or higher level. A trigger is something that brings back a memory of an encounter with God, so that we can revisit it. Or a trigger is something that causes our awareness of God to increase.

Even the bad things that happen outside of us can cause us to go deeper into the heart of God, because God becomes our only source of real life and joy. If we do not experience the presence of God in us, we are going to feel empty. As we learn to live in this place even pain can be a friend, because it pushes us deeper into the center of his being, because if we are aware of the presence of God nothing really matters the same anymore.

We go through experiences that bother us and cause us to respond negatively. But through these experiences we learn how to look to God through them and as we come out of them we have more of God in our lives. If we had that same experience it wouldn't bother us the same way anymore.

So if we experience pain or misunderstanding we don't want it to stop until it has done its full work, because our focus is totally on the Lord.

This type of pain is real pain and it is coming from the outside in. it may be persecution, rejection, insecurity or overcoming an addiction or habit, a number of things, but it pushes us deeper into the heart of God, where we experience him, and we grow spiritually because of our contact with God as we are going through it.

God is causing it to work out for our good, he is not the source of it, but he is with us as we go through it, so that it no longer has any power over us, and we come to the place that we rejoice always, because no matter what happens, we are enabled to also live in a different realm, the kingdom realm of the spirit.

As we learn how to walk with God our spirit will eventually grow to such an extent that we can actually supercede the natural realm through understanding the spiritual laws of the kingdom of God and the ways of God where we come into a maturity that Jesus walked in.

He walked in an intimacy with the Father where No person could touch him physically unless the father and himself allowed it, he could disappear, he could speak and people would fall over from the power released in his voice. He could read people's minds through a flow of the Spirit within him. He was aware of what was going to happen before it happened through a flow of the Spirit in him. No sickness could touch his body; he could walk on water and control the weather. He could levitate, and trans-relocate, but everything he did was in union with the Father.

Until we come into maturity, we need to learn how to hide ourselves in him.
